

IRS INCREASES 2009 CONTRIBUTION AND BENEFIT LIMITS FOR TRANSIT ACCOUNTS

As part of the economic stimulus package, the IRS has increased the limit for pre-tax contributions and benefits in relation to Commuter Benefits Transit Accounts. This increased limit reflects the maximum allowed pre-tax contribution and reimbursement amount per calendar month for the remainder of 2009. This new limit will take effect March 1, 2009.

- Transit Account: Increased from $120 to $230 per month

If your Transit Plan allows the current maximum of $120, ADP will automatically update your Commuter Benefits Transit account to the new limit of $230.

If your Transit Plan does not allow the current maximum of $120, your existing plan limits will not be changed. If, however, you would like to adopt the increased limit of $230 for the remainder of the 2009 calendar year, please notify your ADP Client Services Team.

As always, thanks for choosing ADP!

ADP Commuter Services

*ADP does not make any representation or warranty that the information contained in this communication, when used in a specific and actual situation, meets applicable legal requirements. This communication is provided solely as a courtesy and should not be construed as legal advice. The information in this communication represents informational highlights and should not be considered a comprehensive review of legal and compliance activity. Your legal counsel should be consulted for updates on law and guidance that may have an impact on your organization and the specific facts related to your business. Please note that the information provided in this document is current as of the date it is originally published.